HAD CRADLE CAP FROM INFANCY

He Has Placed Her Over His Lap and Tanned Her Many Times.

BROOKLYN, July 8, 1910.
By the Editor of The Evening World:
Have been very much interested in the letters of your readers regarding the advisability of spanking disobedient children, and I have also been interested in the letters of the wives who have spanked their husbands.

I would say that while I have never had occasion to even think of punishing my husband, he has frequently spanked me, and I freely admit the result has made our home life happier. I had been nervous in many things and caused my husband much worry until he took the advice of my mother and soundly spanked me. Since then I have realized that there are many things I should not do, and I refrain from doing them, knowing that if I am caught doing them my husband will not hesitate to place me over his lap and spank me. While he is never brutal in punishing me, he has tanned me many times, and I feel I am the better for it.

I think there would be more happy couples if more husbands would do the same thing. I freely admit that my life has been made happier since I have been called to an accounting for my misdeeds. MRS. A.—
